Required Information

- The identification documents required for passengers on international flights are a valid passport or national identity card supported by any other relevant documentation such as visas where applicable.

Advanced Passenger Information (API)

It is now a legal requirement for certain passenger data to be lodged with the Government's E-Borders Agency, for the purposes of security. You must provide this information, for trans-mission to the authorities, a minimum of 72 hours before the flight. This will be transmitted to the Immigration Authorities, and deleted by us once the flight has cleared. Failure to comply with the Government directive may result in refusal of carriage, and there will be no refund available if you have failed to provide the data required.
